Different Types of Bullying

- Direct Bullying - physical, verbal attacks, assault, destruction of property
- Indirect Bullying – shunning, spreading rumors, malicious practical jokes
- Cyber/Electronic – internet technology, social websites, texting, emails

What is Bullycide?

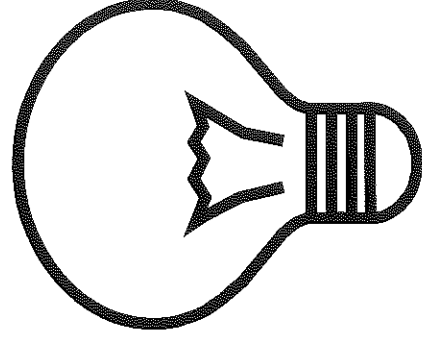

Bullycide is suicide caused from the results of bullying. Children and teens who are bullied live in a constant state of fear and confusion in their lives. Many feel the only way to escape the rumors, insults, verbal abuse and terror is to take their own life. Bullycide is clearly a serious issue.

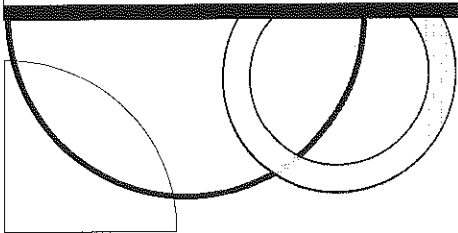

There are several different reasons that ultimately can lead to bullycide including:

- Being constantly physically and emotionally bullied
- Experiencing constant physical and emotional pain
- Having to continually relive an embarrassing moment over and over that is regularly brought up peers as a method of torment
- Being the victim of bullying by an authority figure like a parent, teacher, coach or other adult
- When the victim of bullying has no other friends to rely on for support or encouragement while being bullied regularly

Normal Conflict vs. Bullying

Normal Conflict

- Equal Power-friends
- Happens occasionally
- Accidental
- Not serious
- Equal emotional reaction
- Not seeking power or attention
- Not trying to get something
- Remorse-take responsibility
- Effort to solve the problem.

Bullying

- Imbalance of power; not friends
- Repeated negative actions
- Purposeful
- Serious-threat of physical harm or emotional or psychological hurt
- Strong emotional reaction on part of the victim
- Seeking power, control
- Trying to gain material things or power
- No remorse— blames victim
- No effort to solve problem
- Cyber-Bullying- Can happen only once

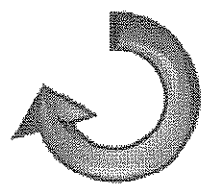

How You Can Make A Difference
